Roving Students Around Roosevelt?

by David Morse

School officials met with representatives of homeowner associations in Greenbelt East to hear their concerns about the presence of roving groups of high school age students in their communities at a meeting at Eleanor Roosevelt High School on September 27. Roosevelt Principal Gerald Boarman pledged full cooperation with the community and set forth the school's understanding of the problem, which he said involved only small numbers of Roosevelt students. Greenbelt Police Department Patrol Division Commander Lt. John Lann, who also attended, advised residents to call police rather than attempting to deal with suspicious activities themselves, saying police would respond vigorously.

The meeting was called by Suzanne Plogman, Prince Georges County school board member for the district which includes Roosevelt, in response to a request by Steven Bupp, who heads Condominium Ventures, a firm responsible for managing a number of large condominium and rental properties in the area of the school. Some Greenbelt East residents also attended, one of whom had been the victim of an attempted carjacking in 1992, she said.

The purpose of the meeting, said Bupp, was to renew a dialogue between residents and school officials, begun in 1988, about student off-campus behavior, and to prevent current problems from getting worse. The second purpose was to clear up confusion about what residents are supposed to do in the event of suspicious activities.

Defends Roosevelt

Boarman, the principal speaker, said Roosevelt students, for the most part, were not to blame for various incidents of trespass and vandalism reported by residents, citing the following reasons: (1) School officials know that students and non-students of high-school age from other areas frequent the area around the school because they are often turned away from the Roosevelt campus, where they are forbidden to enter as a matter of school policy. "We turn away anywhere from 15 to 20 cars a day of teenagers loaded into cars," he said.

(2) Students at Roosevelt are severely restricted, under threat of harsh penalties, in their off-campus movements (the school rescinded its "open lunch" policy after Boarman became principal four years ago). "We have a very strong . . . rigid policy here in reference to students leaving school," said Boarman.

(3) Greenbelt police inform school officials whenever one of their students is apprehended for truancy or other misbehavior during the school day. Residents who are unaware of the above policies who observe young people in the area may assume they are Roosevelt students, he said, simply because of the proximity to the school and the time of day.

Boarman pointed out that about 400 Roosevelt students (out of a total of 2800) are enrolled in programs which drastically shorten the length of time they spend at Roosevelt each day, including University of Maryland classes and work-study programs. He denied, however, that significant numbers of students who leave early were involved in lawbreaking. He said that only 20 or 30 Roosevelt students could be classified as chronic problems. Gary King, an administrative assistant and acting vice principal, added that because of a school-wide policy to take attendance regularly for every class, the school quickly becomes aware of truancy problems.

While he minimized the involvement of Roosevelt students in neighborhood problems, Boarman said that the school would deal sternly with students caught breaking school rules and engaging in behavior that threatens or intimidates residents. He echoed the hope expressed by Bupp that cooperation between the school and the surrounding community could prevent a worsening of the situation. "We feel that Roosevelt is an asset to the community and the community is an asset to us," he said.

Boarman emphasized repeatedly that Roosevelt students were overwhelmingly law-abiding, and that incidents involving its students were "the lowest in the county for all high schools." He also stressed that the school's students had distinguished themselves in scholarship, athletics, and extracurricular activities, receiving, for example, the largest number of Maryland Distinguished Scholarship awards last year in comparison to students at other high schools.

Nevertheless, said Boarman, he took community concerns extremely seriously and was committed to punishing students who were nuisances to the community, by measures ranging from suspensions of parking privileges for the semester to sus-

Mayor Gil Weidenfeld and Mayor Pro-Tem Tom White cut the ribbon with City Councilmembers Toni Bram, Ed Putens and Rodney Roberts lending a supporting hand. Onlookers are Senator Leo Green, Delegate Jim Hubbard, County Councilmember, Richard Castaldi, School Board Representative Suzanne Plogman and Davy Almy of Sullivan and Almy Architects. Cheers and applause went up as hundreds waited the opportunity to visit the new center.

by Betsy Likowski

The ribbon was cut, the new fitness center was opened, and people poured in to see the new addition to the pool complex. As part of the festivities after the Labor Day parade, a short program marked the opening and then all were welcome to come and see Greenbelt's newest recreation facility. As Mayor Gil Weidenfeld said in the ribbon cutting ceremony, "a dream for many in the community has now become a reality."

The new fitness center, the renovated old bathhouse, is located right next to the pools. It is part of the Aquatic and Fitness Center that also includes the indoor and outdoor pools. The exterior was deliberately made to look like the old bathhouse—the same size, the round windows in the walls of the entrance-way, the short windows all around the very tops of the walls. But inside was a pleasant and surprising difference.

Instead of the dark, dank, and merely functional inside of the old bathhouse, there is a light, airy, and pleasant slate blue interior that is cheery and welcoming.

Tour

On our tour of the facility on Labor Day, we entered at the original entrance to the building. In the future everyone will enter the facility through the main entranceway to the Aquatic and Fitness Center complex and the original entrance will be an emergency exit only.

We passed through the small entrance room and down a short hall. There we came to the main hall that runs the length of the building. And facing us straight ahead was the exercise workout room. It is a bright room with mirrors on the walls and a wooden floor. Classes of aerobics, dance, step, and stretching will be held in this room. The floating wooden floor absorbs the shock to the legs.

To the right, where the men's locker room and lifeguard room was located, is now a concession room (for use by pool patrons in the summer), the access to the pools, and the aerobic exercise room.

Aerobic Exercise Room

The aerobic exercise room is full of equipment: eight lifecycles, eight lifesteps, and two lifestride treadmills. All the equipment is state of the art, user friendly, designed for beginner to advanced use, and represents the latest in aerobic fitness machines. On the day of the tour, people were so eager to try them out that they were continually climbing on, only to be told that it was a day to look, not touch.

Candidates Respond

To provide voters with information concerning the eight candidates for city council, the Greenbelt News Review herewith presents their responses to the second of a series of questions that we are publishing in successive issues preceding the election. The order of the candidates' answers was determined by lot.

Question 2: If elected, what would you wish to accomplish during the next two years?

Judith "J" Davis

As a member of Greenbelt's City Council, I plan to accomplish the following during the next two years:

- Development of an aggressive plan to deal with the challenges arising from the Greenbelt Metro station. Adequate preparations must be made for an immediate increase in traffic and for long-term development. New businesses can strengthen the tax base, but the city must retain control over all phases of development.
- Maintenance of city services while continuing to seek outside revenue sources and internal efficiency.
- Promotion of public safety by continuing modernization of programs and equipment, increasing the number of neighborhoods with an established Crime Watch, and presenting more crime prevention and personal safety seminars.
- Conservation of existing green-space and the linkage of hiker-biker trails throughout the city.
- Enhancement of current recreational and cultural programs in order to reach more age groups.
- Preservation of all those qualities that make Greenbelt the best hometown around!

Antoinette M. "Toni" Bram

The preservation and enhancement of our special community is my continued goal. With the help of my colleagues on council, I would:

- Initiate a complete evaluation of each neighborhood, identifying problems, be they crime, greenspace needs, traffic flow, comfort level, walkway availability and street design for autos and bicycles, and implement corrective action where needed.
- Call together a Metro Summit which includes representation of all involved agencies and neighborhoods for the purpose of identifying problems, educating the city about Metro-related issues, and embracing the Metro Station area as part of Greenbelt.
- Seek reimbursement for all services that the city performs on behalf of the State such as traffic violation enforcement.
- Concentrate on the needs of today's families in the areas of child care, elder care, and young adult activities.
- Continue to serve with knowledge of citizen needs and make decisions for the greater good of Greenbelt.

Subleasing Criteria, Smoke Detectors Occupy GHI Board

by Mary Moien

The Board of Directors of Greenbelt Homes Inc. met on September 9 with Vice-president Carol Levin presiding in the absence of President Alan Freas. Subleasing issues took up a substantial portion of the meeting, as has been the case at several recent meetings. Other major topics included the need of members to have personal property insurance; a discussion of hard-wired smoke detectors; and the provision of home inspection reports to new members.

Subleasing
Written subleasing criteria were prepared in early 1993. Director Chuck Hess stated that he is opposed to approving more subleases as he does not want more renters in GHI. Director Kathleen Weber indicated that she feels that each exception to the written policy should be reviewed one by one. Jay Friedman, Director, Technical Services, commented on the inordinate amount of meeting time devoted to this issue. He is opposed to denying a member the right to appeal for an exception to the criteria, but felt that the board could produce a written statement indicating the types of appeals they have turned down lately as an indicator to the member that the member's appeal would not be accepted. After general discussion, the board agreed that they were satisfied with the current criteria.

The board then heard from four members who were each seeking an exception to the criteria. Two members sought approval or extended approval to rent with an option to buy. These were approved. One member sought to rent without the renter having an option to buy; that was denied. The last member had not put his house on the market as he had heard that houses were not selling. He sought to rent it instead. His request was denied and he was referred to the written criteria that state that a house "must have been actively marketed for sale for a period of not less than six months" to qualify for subleasing privileges.

Insurance Coverage

After the recent fire on Plateau Place, the board and staff have been concerned about the lack of personal property insurance coverage by members. Although the structures are insured through the monthly payments, insurance on contents (often called HO-6 coverage) is the responsibility of the member. Many members do not have this coverage.

It was reported at an earlier board meeting that GHI has the authority to require members to obtain personal property insurance. However, that may require a change in the bylaws. Quite a discussion ensued. Insurance coverage could be obtained through GHI for all homes or individual members could either voluntarily or mandatorily buy their own. Board Member Keith Jahoda indicated that he favored changing the agreements that are signed as new members buy into GHI to require a minimum amount of personal property insurance. Long-time GHI member Nat Shinderman commented from the floor that it would be paternalistic of GHI to force members to buy coverage.

After additional discussion the board was mixed as to whether to have staff pursue this issue or just to drop it for now. However, they finally asked management to obtain additional insurance information on optional member coverage to be presented at a future board meeting.

Smoke Detectors

At the August 2 meeting the board directed staff to research costs of a program to install hard-wired smoke detectors in each unit. The cost of installing one smoke detector in the hallway between bedrooms of each unit would be between $80,000 and $96,000. A long discussion on these types of smoke detectors followed. Director Bill Phelan commented that he wants smoke detectors with alarms loud enough to be heard in adjoining units. Director Don Comis wants the wired detectors to be movable so that, if ordinary steam from baths or smoke from kitchens turns them on, they can be moved a certain distance.

Jay Friedman provided information that less than 2 percent of GHI homes currently have a hard-wired detector. About 75 percent have a battery-operated one but he cannot vouch for their having working batteries. In fact, the highest number of resale inspection violations is for smoke detectors with dead batteries. Phelan wondered if having 100 percent coverage

Letters to the Editor

A Vote for Olde

In playful response to Colette Zanin's witty letter to the editor, objecting to the use of "Olde" Greenbelt:

There once was a dentist so bolde,
That he thought our town could grow olde!

It caused such commotion

To have such a notion. It put olde Greenbelters on holde.

Yours truly has now grown so olde

That his feet and hands are always colde.

I've lived fifty-six years in Newe Greenbelt, my dears,

It's time for "Olde" fashion, I'm tolde.

Dr. Clayton McCarl, Sr.

with hard-wired detectors would reduce GHI's insurance costs.

Alan Turnbull, Audit Committee, proposed a people-centered campaign to enforce use of smoke detectors and to have GHI maintenance staff test the detectors every time they are in the unit on a maintenance call. Director O'Boyle supported Turnbull's idea and added that many fire departments give away free detectors. Director Chuck Hess indicated that he is in favor of two hard-wired detectors in each unit, with GHI installing the upstairs one in each unit first and then coming back through the community installing one downstairs.

The first year's costs were tentatively added to the 1994 budget and will be reviewed when the budget is discussed. Also, staff will check on possible insurance savings.

Inspection Reports

Questions had been raised at earlier meetings regarding the provision to a purchaser of the GHI inspection report. It has always been the option of the seller to provide the report to the purchaser, but GHI felt that they were not in a position to provide the report to a purchaser prior to settlement. It was agreed that staff will provide inspection reports to new GHI members after settlement.

Yard Sale Saturday

Greenbriar's Fall Yard Sale will be hosted on Saturday, October 2, from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. in the Terrace Room of the Community Building at 7600 Hanover Parkway. A large variety of items is anticipated.

Simply Ridiculous

Last week's front page article, "Community Center Cost Estimate Increased 19%, Council Shocked," reminded us of Claude Raines' famous line in Rick's cafe in the movie "Casablanca": "I'm shocked. Shocked to find that gambling is going on here."

It is simply ridiculous for the current council majority to be "shocked" that converting Center School into a community center is more expensive than previous estimates indicated. Back in 1989 (during the height of the controversy over the future of Center School), citizens who favored a smaller, less expensive community center at the North End site and a county renovation of Center School (as a school) warned council that city ownership and renovation of the Center School building would be much more expensive than the mere $3 million bond issue council was allocating for it. However, a majority of council ignored those concerns.

Mayor Weidenfeld zealously supported having the community center at Center School. Council members Putens and Bram avoided making public their positions on the location of the community center, but they did publicly support the ambiguously worded referendum that allocated $3 million to renovate "a school" for a community center and joined in a paid ad with Weidenfeld.

Voters were given a second referendum question as to which location they preferred; but the $3 million was known at the time to be insufficient for the Center School location of the community center. It was grossly irresponsible of the council majority to present voters with a "choice" that didn't provide sufficient funds for one of the options—a Center School community center. They were emphatically told so by many concerned citizens, who in response were admonished to stop worrying and have "vision."

The cost of the Center School community center is turning out to be nearly twice the $3 million that council allocated for it, just as many citizens predicted. The same council members who are now being portrayed as so indignant over the rising cost estimates are the ones who disregarded those concerns and insisted on giving voters a phony "choice" on how to spend $3 million. They have no one to blame but themselves.

In Memoriam

by Charles Howey

Greenbelt pioneer William E. (Ted) Havens died at his home. Ted remained friends over the years with other former Greenbelters who never forgot where their roots were, "Greenbelt."

Shortly after Ted and his old friends participated in the 50th anniversary of Greenbelt, we decided to continue a reunion every two years. Ted was an active participant in coordinating this event. The first took place in 1989 in California with a former Greenbelter (John Flynn) hosting the event. The second took place in Florida in 1991 with another former Greenbelter (Mike Cockill) hosting. Our third reunion took place in Ocean City, Maryland with "old gang" members and their wives (Charles and Gladys Howey, Don and Gail Walker, Bruce and Charlotte MacEwen, John Schaffer, Mike and Anita Cockill, Elmer Hersberger, Larry and Darleen Holien, John and JoAnn Flynn, and Hank Smith), most of whom are former Greenbelters. The date of this reunion was September 18, 1993, the day that our dear friend and "old gang" member passed away.

Ted had been ill for some time so it was not a surprise it finally came. The timing of his passing provided everyone from different parts of the country the opportunity to see him before his death and participate in the services before they departed for home. Our reunion that Ted helped to plan was not exactly a joyous one, but rather a strengthening one. It "bonded" our friendships even more. It was the last thing Ted could give us. We all love you Ted and thanks for being our friend.

William E. Havens

Pioneer Greenbelter William E. (Ted) Havens died at his home in Silver Spring on September 18.

Mr. Havens moved to Greenbelt with his parents and older brother, Bennie in 1937. In the early 1950's he moved to the College Park area.

While in Greenbelt he delivered the News Review (formerly the Cooperator).

He is survived by his wife Jackie, three children, two grandchildren, and a brother.

Free Screening For Depression

Free screenings for depression will be held on October 7 at several locations and times in the metro area. Locally, the Berwyn Presbyterian Church, 6301 Greenbelt Road, will provide a brief consultation with a mental health professional from 7 to 9 p.m. There will be a brief talk on causes, symptoms and treatments for depression along with a short video presentation.

Persons who suspect they or someone they know may suffer from depression are encouraged to attend. For more information and other locations, call 703-281-1874, ext. 235.

Saturday, October 9, Friends of the Greenbelt Museum (FOGM) will sponsor a flea market at the Roosevelt Center Mall. Contributions of toys, household items and jewelry may be dropped off anytime at 2-G Gardenway. To arrange for pick-ups, contact Lee Shields, 474-5321. Clothing will not be accepted. Proceeds from the flea market are earmarked for FOGM's endowment fund which, eventually, will support the hiring of a part time curator.

Grenades in Apartment Found Not to Be Live

On September 25, 1993, as a result of investigation by the Greenbelt City Police Department's Narcotics Unit, members of the Department's Warrant Entry Team executed a search and seizure warrant at a residence in the 5800 block of Cherrywood Terrace at 3:15 a.m. According to a release by the Department, a quantity of suspected Phencyclidine (PCP) drug paraphernalia, as well as a shotgun were recovered from the residence.

While searching a safe inside the residence, officers discovered several "Pineapple" type hand grenades which had markings that indicated that they were live. The building and four surrounding apartment buildings were evacuated and the Prince Georges County Fire Department's Bomb Squad was notified. Investigation by the Bomb Squad revealed that the grenades were not live, and the residents were allowed to return to their homes.

Two suspects were arrested on the scene, and charges are pending further investigation.

News Review Picnic

The picnic and annual meeting of the Greenbelt News Review will be held on Sun., Oct. 3, noon to 4 p.m., Schrom Hills Pk.

Applications Now Accepted For Center Artists Studios

This month, the city will begin accepting applications from artists and craftspeople living in Greenbelt for the studios to be rented in the new community center. The city hopes to have former Center School renovated and the community center ready for opening by January, 1995. Over 3,000 square feet of rental studio space will be available - to encourage the development of local emerging artists and to provide opportunities for exposure to the visual arts for the community.

Interested artists should call the city office at 474-8000 for an application and return it by October 15. There are plans to select artists by jury if more artists and craftspeople apply than there is space for. In this case, artists who have applied will be notified about the jurying process later this fall. In the meantime, artists should apply now to insure inclusion in the selection process.

The studios will be part of the overall arts programming for the center. Space has also been set aside for arts classrooms, a pottery classroom, a photography darkroom, and areas for the performing and literary arts. The studios will be located in four rooms on the second floor of the original building. These rooms have 12-foot high ceilings, and will have good lighting and ventilation, air conditioning, and access to an elevator and sinks. Good security will be provided; 24-hour accessibility is being considered.

Six to 12 studios are planned. The rooms are approximately 768 square feet in size, and measure 24 by 32 feet. They can be divided into two or three studios, approximately 384 and 255 square feet, respectively. All of these spaces — one room, 1/2 or 1/3 of a room — could be shared by two or more people. The estimated annual rental fee is $6 per square foot. This would mean that a whole room would cost $4,608 a year, a studio consisting of 1/2 a room would cost $2,304, and one consisting of 1/3 of a room would cost $1,530. For example, if two artists shared a studio of 385 square feet (1/2 a room, the rent for each would be $96 a month. Multi-year leases will be considered.

The city would like to have one Sunday a month set aside for visitors to tour the studio areas. Studios that day would be left open for viewing and artists would take turns volunteering to serve as hosts. Artists would also be asked to participate in yearly arts festivals. Since space has been specifically set aside elsewhere for art classrooms, artists would not be allowed to teach in their studios; exceptions would be artists with specialized equipment such as printmakers with presses.

For further information, call Barbara Simon, Chair, Greenbelt Arts Advisory Committee, 474-2192.

Citizens to Elect "J" DAVIS

P. O. Box 153
Greenbelt, MD 20768

September 30, 1993

Dear Greenbelt Voters,

By now, we hope that you all know that Judith "J" Davis is running for City Council. Those of us who have witnessed her energetic service on the Advisory Planning Board for the past eleven years know that a seat on council is the best way for her to use her knowledge and experience on behalf of the entire city.

With the opening of the Green Line Metro extension, the new Council will face a critical round of decisions to respond to development proposals, traffic problems, and security concerns at and around the station, "J" will not require time for "home-work" — she already has expertise in this area, and her many skills and abilities will provide necessary leadership.

We need the time and money of many volunteers for a successful campaign. We welcome all contributions to the above address, or phone Pat Unger at 474-1914.

REMEMBER! VOTE for Judith "J" DAVIS

Candidates Respond

Council Nedd, II

If elected I will be an additional voice for the people of Greenbelt East providing fair representation for the entire city. Unless Greenbelt starts long-range planning and better, or at least fairly, distributes city resources I will not support any measure that calls for an increase in taxes. City dollars should not pay for the Greenbelt Theater.

An elected sheriff or constable, and bike patrols are integral to community policing. I also support increased patrols of the Greenbelt East community. The lack of adequate police patrols makes Greenbelt East an easy target for any criminal.

I will push for term limits for city council members as a cure for the myopia that has left large portions of Greenbelt unnoticed by the current council. I will work to build an overpass or underpass that will turn Greenbelt into one united walking community instead of two divided by Greenbelt Road.

Rodney M. Roberts

During the next two years, I would like to:

- Establish police bicycle patrols for areas such as residential neighborhoods, shopping centers, parks, and Metro.
- Finish long standing projects such as Lakewood storm drainage and Greenbrook Lake.
- Open an affordable Community Center that does not compromise other needed City projects.
- Improve safety for pedestrians and bicyclists and secure funding for three pedestrian overpasses: two across Greenbelt Rd. and one across Kenilworth Ave.
- Restore the Hamilton Graveyard as an historic site.
- Renovate the old Jaycees building for meeting space.
- Provide improved and equal recreational facilities for all parts of the city.
- Pursue the purchase of part of the A. H. Smith property near Metro for passive and active recreation.
- Establish a mechanism for the permanent preservation of the last 184 acres of the original green belt forest.

Keith Chernikoff

During the next two years I wish to:

- Develop community based policing by expanding on proven programs like neighborhood watch and the citizens police academy and by adding nontraditional patrolling strategies such as bicycle and foot patrols. This will foster better police-community relations and thereby bolster our crime fighting capability.
- Develop a comprehensive intra-city transportation system including emphasis on pedestrian, bicycle and bus alternatives to the use of the automobile. This action will help reduce gridlock on our roadways.
- Develop a unified bicycle and pedestrian trail system branching from East Greenbelt to Springhill Lake.
- Promote fiscal accountability by disclosing estimated costs of new city programs prior to council passage.
- Complete a citywide long range plan to meet recreation and leisure needs through the year 2003.
- Develop strategies to ensure that the presence of METRO enhances the quality of life within our community.

Hopi J. Auerbach

During the next two years I hope to keep Greenbelt green and reduce pollution of all kinds.

The opening of the new Greenbelt metro station in December presents a fine opportunity for our city to reduce air pollution and work for traffic safety. Access to Greenbelt metro must be made possible to all in our city without using a car.

Bus lines to the new station must be available to those living in all parts of Greenbelt including the furthest parts of Greenbelt East and Springhill Lake.

Foot and bicycle paths and sidewalks must be constructed. This includes at least one overpass across Kenilworth and one over the Beltway.

Trees have many advantages. We need to plant more trees in and around each of our shopping centers and along our roads.

No more high rise in Greenbelt. We need stricter restrictions on the construction of office buildings and apartments.

Thomas X. White

The past several years have seen significant accomplishments for Greenbelt. A catalyst has been the Council Goals Action Plan. Adopted in 1992, ten goals guide the city as to where our energy and resources are directed:

- Public Safety
- Open Space
- Metro
- Home Rule
- Code Enforcement
- Public Works Administration/Facilities
- Special Projects
- Comprehensive Environmental Policy
- Family Life
- Unification of City

If reelected, I will recommit to these goals and support an effort by the new council to review and evaluate our priorities for 1994-95. I support an open public process to assure that real needs are considered.

My priorities for these two years would be:

- Making Metro Work for Greenbelt
 - Adopt Action Plan for Pedestrian and Bicycle Safety throughout Greenbelt
 - New Community Center
 - Protect and Enhance Greenbelt Environment
 - Expand/Improve Recycling
 - Coordinate all City Departments Toward Adopted Goals
- With your help, I look forward to an exciting two years.

Edward V. J. Putens

First priority is the City's financial stability. We should implement the money-saving plan to pay off Greenbelt's debt in 12 years instead of 20, and pursue County and State funding for some Community Center renovation costs.

Complete the entire Community Center, without compromises in quality which we will later regret. Complete planning and most implementation for the remaining Roosevelt Center revitalization, including parking.

Strengthen police patrols, especially in Springhill Lake.

Complete the Lakewood storm water project.

Implement a trails system linking the entire City, including bicycle and pedestrian trails to Metro; expand the Greenbelt Connection, for service to Metro and other City destinations; and start implementing the Lake Park Master Plan.

Improve traffic flow around Greenway Center, following completion of the Greenbelt Road/Parkway improvements; insist that the State erect a pedestrian overpass over Greenbelt Road at Roosevelt High School; and pursue Federal approval for the pond in Schrom Hills Park.

BE IT ORDAINED by the Council of the City of Greenbelt, Maryland that:

SECTION 1. Pursuant to the authority of Section 24 of Article 31 of the Annotated Code of Maryland (1990 Replacement Volume and 1992 Cumulative Supplement) and Section 55 of the Charter of the City of Greenbelt (the "Charter"), the City of Greenbelt, Maryland (the "City") is hereby authorized and empowered to borrow money and incur indebtedness for the public purposes described in Section 2 hereof, at one time or from time to time, in an amount not exceeding, in the aggregate, Six Million Dollars ($6,000,000), and to evidence such borrowing by the issuance and sale, upon its full faith and credit, of general obligation bonds in like par amount, which may be issued at one time or from time to time, in one or more groups or series, as the City may determine.

SECTION 2. Proceeds of sale of the bonds authorized to be issued hereunder shall be used and applied, after payment of the costs of issuance and sale, for the public purpose of purchasing, or depositing with an escrow deposit agent to purchase, direct obligations of, or obligations the principal of and interest on which are guaranteed by, the United States of America in such amounts and maturing at stated fixed prices as to principal and interest at such time as will be sufficient (a) to redeem on November 1, 1997, at the redemption price of 102% of the principal amount thereof, and to pay interest when due on the $3,225,000 aggregate principal amount of the City's Public Improvement Bonds of 1987 stated to mature on and after November 1, 1998, and (b) to redeem on November 1, 2000, at the redemption price of 102% of the principal amount thereof, and to pay interest when due on the $1,375,000 aggregate principal amount of the City's Public Improvement Bonds of 1990 stated to mature on and after November 1, 2001.

SECTION 3. There shall be deducted from the total gross proceeds received from the sale of the bonds authorized to be issued hereunder the cost of issuing the same, including the cost of all printing, legal fees and other reasonably related expenses. The balance of the proceeds of sale of said bonds shall be expended for the public purposes described in Section 2 hereof, and said proceeds are hereby appropriated for said purposes.

SECTION 4. For the purpose of meeting the debt service requirements on the bonds authorized to be issued hereunder, and in addition to such funds received from any other source as may from time to time be legally available and allocated for such purpose, the City shall, if and when such funds are or will be insufficient for such purpose, levy for each and every fiscal year during which any of the bonds may be outstanding, ad valorem taxes upon all real and tangible personal property within its corporate limits subject to assessment for unlimited municipal taxation in rate and amount sufficient to provide for the prompt payment of the principal of and interest on the bonds maturing in each such fiscal year, and, in the event the proceeds from the collection of the taxes so levied in any such fiscal year may prove inadequate for such purposes, additional taxes shall be levied in the subsequent fiscal year to make up any deficiency. The full faith and credit and unlimited taxing power of the City are hereby irrevocably pledged to the prompt payment of the maturing principal of and interest on the bonds as and when the same respectively mature, and to the levy and collection of the taxes hereinabove described as and when such taxes may become necessary in order to provide sufficient funds timely to meet the debt service requirements on the bonds. The City hereby covenants with each holder of any of the bonds to take any action that may be appropriate from time to time during the period that any of the bonds remain outstanding and unpaid to provide the funds necessary to make the principal and interest payments due thereon and further covenants and agrees to levy and collect the taxes hereinabove described.

SECTION 5. In accordance with Section 55(b) of the Charter, a complete and exact copy of this Ordinance shall be posted in a public place or places within the boundaries of the City for thirty (30) days and shall be published at least once within ten (10) days of its passage in a newspaper of general circulation in the City.

SECTION 6. This Ordinance shall take effect thirty (30) days after the date of its passage.

PASSED by the Council of the City of Greenbelt, Maryland, at its regular meeting, September 21, 1993.

Roving Students?

pension and even expulsion.

Obstacles

Boorman also mentioned two factors that limited the school's ability to deal with trouble by Roosevelt students when it occurs. First, there is a dispute over jurisdiction on the campus itself between the Prince Georges County Police and the Greenbelt Police Department. The County police are poorly situated to handle problems on the campus, he said, because only three police cruisers are available for such duty and must travel from the Laurel-Bowie area. "The response time is very bad," he said. He strongly advised resolving the matter in favor of the Greenbelt department, whose working relationship with the school he termed "wonderful."

(Plogman said later in an interview that the jurisdiction question first came before the school board in 1987 and that she thought it had been resolved at the time pursuant to a motion she introduced to the board. She is drafting a letter to Superintendent Edward Felegy addressing the problem, she said.)

Secondly, he said, the school has no legal authority over students who misbehave off campus. The school attempts to exert such authority informally when it is alerted of loitering Roosevelt students, he said, so far successfully. But it lacks the manpower to send out school officials for anything except incidents very close to the campus. Difficulty in establishing whether those involved are students at the school complicates the problem, he said.

Incidents

Several residents and representatives of homeowner associations said their concerns had been heightened by several recent incidents. Dan Lowery, a member of Greenwood Village's

Board of Directors, cited an attempted carjacking at knife-point in his development which took place early last year. This incident "really woke us up to the seriousness of the problem," he said.

The victim of that crime, who did not want her name published, told meeting participants that the attack took place in front of her house. She said that since the incident, she has become apprehensive around young people, despite having been a teacher in a community college for many years.

Boorman said that he did not believe this crime was committed by Roosevelt students because it is police policy to inform him of such incidents. He also referred to his previous statements that numerous students from other high schools were frequenting neighborhoods adjoining the campus. "I don't tolerate violence (by students), he said. "I think they should be locked up and put away." Lt. Lann confirmed that police will notify the school of student lawbreaking as a matter of course.

The victim said that she was completely satisfied with the way her situation was handled by Greenbelt police and the courts, but that she was concerned that if she reported more trivial incidents they would not be taken seriously. "At what point do you write me off as a complainer, as a hyper woman?" she asked Lt. Lann. He responded "We never write you off." He emphasized that all calls are taken quite seriously and are carefully tracked by the department to make sure they are followed up.

Charlene MacAdams, president of Greenwood Village's Board of Directors, said that one resident's recent complaints were not responded to by police and that she experienced retaliation by the perpetrators after making it. Students had been having sexual relations outside the resident's window, said MacAdams. They refused the resident's request to leave and returned afterwards and vandalized her property.

Lt. Lann, citing his experience with the department of more than two decades, said that he was certain that police had responded to the call but may have been reluctant to knock on the complainant's door for fear of compromising her anonymity. "I guarantee you they came by," he said.

MacAdams also said that Roosevelt students were littering their development, principally during lunch time. She said this was the first they had heard of a "closed lunch" policy. Boorman responded that he had been monitoring the trash situation carefully in concert with Bupp, and that he was unaware of the problem she cited. "I don't want that kind of stuff," he said. He added that the school had recently purchased, at great expense, a "billy goat" (a machine to pick up large quantities of trash in outdoor open space) to speed trash removal.

Dorothy Patterson Pyles, a member of the Board of Directors of the Greenbriar Homeowners Association, said students try to use the recreational facilities at Greenbriar, which are restricted to residents of Greenbriar and Glen Oaks. She said last year a group of 15 Roosevelt students used the volleyball court and other students attempted to do so in their wake. They left when asked, she said. Bupp explained that this problem was particularly acute toward the end of the school year in May and June. Pyles said they appreciated the

by David Morse

It is Sunday, and Dorothy Patterson Pyles is giving a tour of the recreational facilities at Greenbriar, where she is a resident and member of the Board of Directors of the Homeowners Association. The carefully tended and beautifully landscaped grounds included picnic areas, a volleyball court, an outdoor swimming pool, and a basketball court. As she approaches the basketball court, three youths, perhaps 13 or 14 years of age, can be seen on the court through the trees. Incredibly, they seem to be vandalizing the court right in front of her eyes. One is hanging from the outer rim of the basketball hoop, which has been bent downward from the horizontal by about four inches.

In an authoritative voice, Pyles asks whether they are carrying a recreation I.D. card, which is required to use the facilities. After an initial silence, one of them claims to be a Glen Oaks resident and to have a key. He mutters in a low tone that he was unaware of the I.D. requirement. (A large sign on the door to the court says in 1½ inch high block letters, "COURTS ARE FOR GREENBRIAR/GLEN OAKS RESIDENTS CARRYING VALID RECREATION I.D. PASSES. ALL OTHERS USING THE COURTS ARE TRESPASSING AND WILL BE PROSECUTED.")

Pyles says such trespassing and vandalism is an ongoing problem. It was unnecessary for the young men to have a key, she points out: The chain-link fence has been torn up from the bottom, creating a gaping hole. Furthermore, a hole has been torn out of the fence adjacent to the key lock. One need only reach inside and turn the latch by hand.

contributions Roosevelt made to the community, but that "we don't enjoy it when Roosevelt students are tearing through our buildings," referring to another incident last year when some students were pursued by police.

Pyles asked Lt. Lann if it was a problem that some people seemed to be walking through the woods in order to run across the Baltimore-Washington Parkway. Lann said that the Greenbelt Police lacked the manpower to respond to this because of the time and difficulty involved and because of the futility of the effort. He said even draconian preventive measures would be frustrated by people determined to get around them.

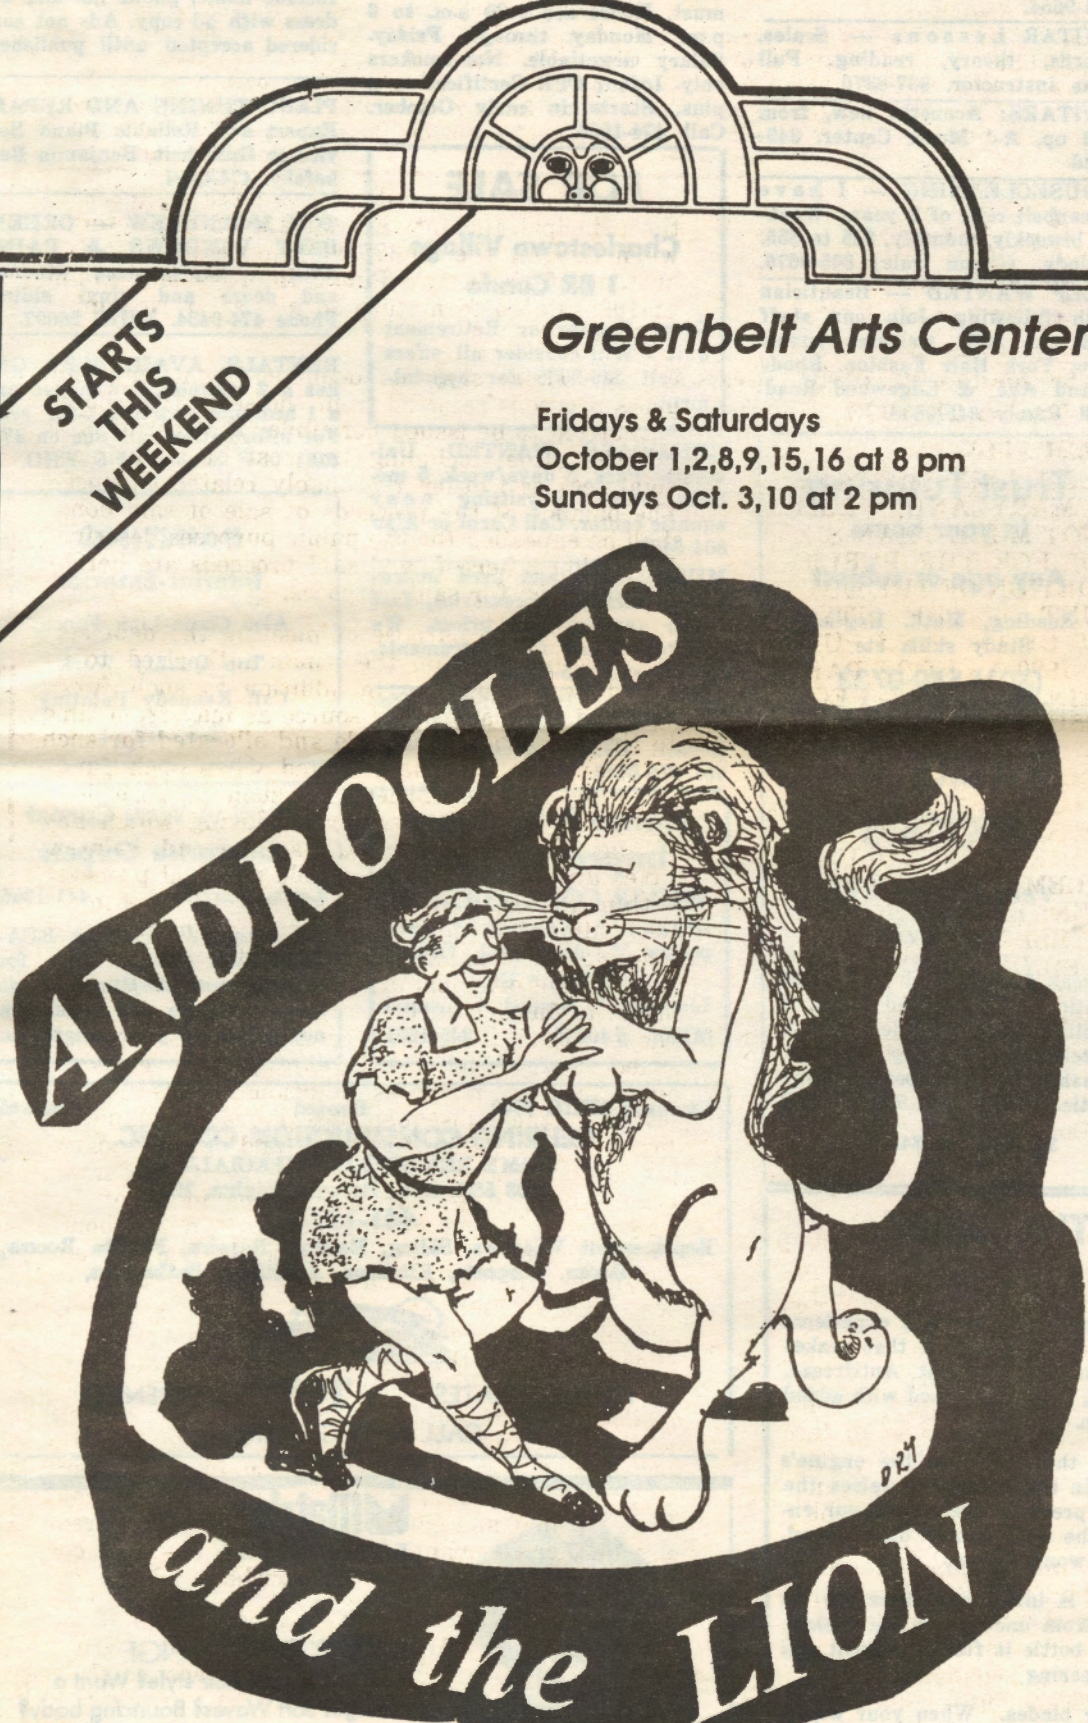

Toward the end of the meeting, Lt. Lann said, "You hear in some other areas that people should 'take back their streets.' Greenbelt hasn't lost them—yet." He said that residents and police should work together on the problem. "Don't (stay home and) order Domino's (pizza), don't put bars on the windows. Don't give up your city."

Left of where we came in, in what used to be the women's locker room, is the weight training room. It contains a complete 15 station universal weight machine and 12 individual circuit training weight machines. All are designed for low impact, high density exercise. A circuit is set up so that upon entering the room an individual will start just right of the entrance and go counterclockwise around the room on the machines. A person should be able to complete the circuit in 12 to 15 minutes and should receive a complete workout.

The Aquatic and Fitness Center is open 365 days a year on Monday through Friday from 6 a.m. to 10:30 p.m., Saturday and Sunday 8 a.m. through 10 p.m. Memberships are now available.

JOE'S TIPS OF THE WEEK

Hello again !!!

As the colder months of winter approach we will experience nasty slush, freezing rain, and snow — all the stuff that makes winter time driving and vehicle maintenance important. Antifreeze, or technically speaking, ethylene glycol, is alcohol-based with added chemicals to protect against corrosion.

Antifreeze changes properties in the winter so the engine's coolant doesn't turn to slush or ice. In the summer it raises the boiling point in conjunction with the pressure system, so our engines don't overheat. Prepare for the cold winter days ahead. Check the coolant (antifreeze), so it won't freeze.

Make certain the exhaust system is intact and there are no holes in it for complete exhaust flow from underneath the vehicle. Make certain your windshield washer bottle is full of solvent and that the solvent is protected from freezing.

Last, but not least are the wiper blades. When your wiper blades become frozen with slush or ice they do not wipe well and you have to remove the ice. That gets old quick. One alternative is snow blades. They are special wiper blades designed for winter use. They are totally enclosed in rubber so that the ice and frozen matter will not build up and stop the wiping action.

McCarl Dental Family takes a bite out of your tooth decay!

The Drs. McCarl have started a campaign to help you reduce tooth decay by the sealing of your teeth.

Many people have heard of dental sealants, a clear protective barrier that is painted on the chewing surfaces of back teeth and reduces the incidence of tooth decay. Sealants are not fool proof but through recent advances it is estimated that a sealed tooth is 54 times less likely to get a cavity. This is a painless and easy procedure for you. An entire mouth can be sealed in 20 to 30 minutes and lasts for several years.

Once thought only for children, current studies show that you continue to get cavities all through your adult life. Sealants are gaining popularity with adults who also wish to avoid decay on back teeth.

Now, with the assistance of a dental sealant manufacturer, the McCarls are able to provide for the month of October, 1993, a special offer to children and adults.

Adult -full mouth sealants	$75 usually $208
Child -full mouth sealants	$60 usually $208
Child -permanent teeth only	$40 usually $116
